SHEM GENERAL ASSEMBLY 2022

Bright minds, insightful opinions and new ideas: the future of the world lies on equity and sustainability

25 August | SHEM's 2022 General Assembly was successfully completed last Thursday, 25 August 2022 from 1 to 3 pm GMT, remotely. This year's session was held under the mediation of Dr Luis Eugenio de Souza, who welcomed the representative voices of the SHEM seven partner institutions namely Dr Paulo Buss, Dr Arachu Castro, Dr Adriano Friganovic, Dr Richard Catlow, Dr Bettina Borisch, Sir Michael Marmot and Dr Felix Rosenberg.

The aforementioned members were able to show their last collaborations with SHEM and, more generally, in the field of health equity and sustainability. Secondly, they had space to remind the audience about their upcoming meetings and events.

An overview of the SHEM main activities was presented by Lara Daibert who mentioned the statements, letters and achievements of the movement during this last year.

Moreover, Dr Nicoletta Dentico from the Geneva Global Health Hub (G2H2) and Dr Marie Studer representing the Planetary Health Alliance (PHA) were invited to join the discussion and were able to share their thoughts about planetary health and do an evaluation of the ongoing global situation while giving advice on new strategies for the future of health equity.

The event has registered more than 250 views. The whole Sustainable Health Equity Movement wishes to thank all members and audience for the participation in another remarkable celebration.
